No late advices have been received regarding prices of our domestic produce abroad, and we are therefore unable to give later quotations than those of the 4th inst. Of Sugar, the S. F. Journal of Commerce in a late issue

" The state of the sugar market abroad may be stated briefly to be a large decline in stocks, as compared with what they were some time ago, and the prospects of greater firmness. Not long since the stocks on hand much exceeded those of 1879 at the same time, and the decline has been caused partly by increased consumption and partly by lessened receipts. Our consumption for the Consumption and export..... This is really more than has ever been consumed for the same period, and indicates a great increase in the sugar trade. Our exports have been large. Not alone that, but we have sent to Utah a large quantity, upwards of 30 car-loads, within a very short period. The market is he lower than it was at the backwing of the held. of 30 car-loads, within a very short period. The market is %c lower than it was at the beginning of the half year, but has advanced %c during the past month. This advance has been coincident with decreased stocks in many parts of the world. The sugar crops abroad are generally understood to be full os promise, so that we look for cheap and abundant sugars and good trade in 1881."

We have no report to make of exports during the past week, the sum total being nil,-of imports we have only a small gross total in comparison with the number of strivals, $10,000 being a good estimate. The receipts of sugar for the week past were 8,838 packages.

ARTICLE 74 of the Constitution reads : " No officer of this Government shall hold any office, or receive any salary from any other Government or power whatever." Probably the lately appointed Minister of Foreign Relations was prompted to resign on this account, as he has boldly asserted on more than one occasion that he is " Special Agent of the China Merchants Steam Navigation conscience is worthy of the highest commendation, though had he thought of the breach of faith before taking office under the Hawaiian

THE POLITICAL SITUATION has differed slightly from what it was this day week. The same feeling of surprise exists, as it has pleased the King to take but little notice of the resolutions that have been presented to him, and which emanated from the most influential portion of the Honolula community. Nor will this feeling of insecurity be eradicated while the Ministry is retained, and more especially while the ex-Minister of Foreign Relations pays his daily visits to the Palace and Altiolani Hale. His resignation does not appear to the outer world to be genuine, and that unusual expression of delight and exultation given at the Bethel meeting on the announcement of his withdrawal from office, has subsided into a feeling of misplaced confidence. The tide of victory seems to have turned, and is now flowing with a full current in an opposite | Chinese do not come here as agriculturiste, and direction from what is was last week. swered. However, Mr. Hartwell made a statement at a meeting last week that " it was the would be to strengthen His Majesty." We fully endorse this assertion. Our contemporary says that " the King's prerogative has been encroached upon." In what way, we would ask? Have not citizens who are tax-payers a right to express their opinion, more especially when the independence of Hawaii nei is in jeopardy? The illogical phraseology referred to by the Pae Aina can only be that construction, or rather misconstruction, which the natives have put upon the action of the foreigners. The most reasonable and sensibly disposed have given but one expression of opinion regarding His Majestythat is loyalty. Notwithstanding this, actions manating from the Throne are open to criticism.

Article 42 of the Constitution states that " No act of the King shall have any effect unless it be countersigned by a Minister, who, by that signature, makes himself responsible." Will this apply to the peremptory dismissal of a Cabinet ?

Probably not. The Pae Aina says that " he should be allowed to choose without interference among men of his subjects acceptable to him.

The wishes of factions should not be pressed, nor the piques of cliques have influence in any way upon him in performing faithfully the discharge of his duties as King and ruler of the nation." Were this an absolute monarchy such sweeping statements might be admissible; but, see so many Hawaiians present with their foreign friends. Those who now take this opportunity of expressing themselves are the true friends of the State. This meeting is not called to do anything bad, nor do we wish to do anything in regard to a certain man who has caused a great deal of noise.

The question is to discuss a certain resolution that

Gentlemen-His Majesty's Ministers with respects acknowledge the receipt of a communication containing an expression of the sentiments of the signers thereof, and passed at a meeting of the citizens of Honolulu at the Bethel, on the 18th of the present month. His Majesty's Ministers have been pleased to place your communication in the hands of His Majesty the King.

Very respectfully, your obedient servants, J. E. Bush, Minister of the Interior, &c. M. KUAEA, Minister of Finance. W. C. Jones, Attorney General.

The above is a copy of the answer returned to the committee who presented the petition of the neeting held at the Bethel Church on Wednesday the 18th instant. It is extremely formal and literally contains nothing. The petition was presented on the 21st instant, and the 24th the fact is made known of it having pleased His Majesty's Ministers to place the communication in the hands of His Majesty. Further comment

IN THE PRESENT condition of affairs it is desirable that facts should be kept in view, and the tendency to distort or exaggerate should be resisted. It must be acknowledged that serious injury has been done to the business interests of the Kingdom, but it must also be remembered that the injury is more in the apprehensions created than in what has been actually done, and we have reason to believe that many of these apprehensions were and are groundless. Hopes are now entertained that wiser counsels will prevail, and the Government be placed in fairly safe hands, and it is not unreasonable to hope that the events of the last two weeks will have taught some valuable lessons.

On the other hand, the foreign community will have learned the necessity of making some effort to show to the governing class how intimately connected with and dependent upon good government are all the industrial interests of the kingdom. It has been, perhaps, too much the case in times past that foreigners, as well as natives, when they wanted a subsidy or any other measure passed, have been ready to undermine the influence of a Ministry, and have thus taught a lesson which is now reacting upon themselves. We sometimes hear men boasting that they do not care who are Ministers, as they can get what they want in spite of them; but late events have shown many such that it does make some difference to all who administers the Government; and if, as we sincerely hope, it may soon please the King to replace the Ministry of a misguided choice for one, the result of calm deliberation on the needs of the nation, the community-both native and foreign-will aid in restoring harmony

THE SUBJECT OF IMMIGRATION will drop into desuctude, and become a thing of the pact, if no steps are taken to check the wholesale influx of male Chinese. In June, 1879, the number of Chinese males in the country exceeded the females by six thousand six hundred and sixty-five. Over four thousand have arrived since that time. Now what must be the condition of society in a country where the native population shows nearly five men to one woman. Article 30 of the Constitution states that " it is the King's prerogative to Company," or to use his own words, "The receive and acknowledge public Ministers, and Government itself." This bill was vetoed by the King. The power of the Board of Immigration, which by statute is under the control of the Minister of the Interior, whose duty it is to devise and recommend for the adoption of the King in Privy Council such measures as might be necessary to promote and encourage immigration, are thrown entirely in the shade. The Government pays for the importation of South Sea Island women, whilst, on the other hand, the Chinese Government asks to be paid for bringing males only. They have started to come from both sides-China and the Pacific Coast-and unless there is some check put on the present movement, nothing can save the speedy extinction of the Hawaiian race. It is a sweeping assertion to make; but, from the reasonable arguments that have come under our notice, we believe it to be a ead fact. The Maui, Haucitan Islands.

L. NEUFELD. GRAND SQUARE and UPRIGHT PIANO-MAKER, BERLIN. H. Hackfeld & Co., Agents for the Hawalian Islands.

The Sydney Mail, Saturday, January 17, 1880. page 117, 118, PIANOFORTES IN THE EXHIBITION. In our previous notice of the Pianos in the Exhibition (No IV) in connection with those of the German Court, we were unable to do more than enumerate the exhibits of L. NEU unable to do more than enumerate the exhibits of L. NEU-FELD, of Berlin, and that enumeration was erroneous. Since writing that notice, the Sydney agents. Memrs. Rabone, Fers & Co., have given us an opportunity of seeing the instruments of which four are exhibited instead of two, as formerly stated. The First is a grand of fall compass 7; octaves, overstrung "an acoustical metal frame in agraffes, the action is perfect unfalling repetition." All the modern improvements are applied; the instrument is cased in walnut of fine tone and light touch, and being in addition by far the most priceworthy and ought to command the most ready market.

No. 2 is an upright cottage grand, with iron frame over strung, well finished, and cased in a handsome frame in the Louis Quatorze style. No. 3 is an upright cottage, simpler in the exterior, but with substantial metal frame, and all the evidences of thorough care in the internal construction. No. 4 is an overstrung upright bondoir cottage, of very agreeable tone. Having thoroughly examined the workmanship and construction, and tested tone and touch, we are able to speak with confidence on the sterling merits of these instrument, especially when we compare the prices with those of other within the store of the s
